

Procedures for Reporting and Responding to Allegations of Staff Misconduct and Reportable Conduct

Introduction

Complaints regarding allegations of staff misconduct and reportable conduct are managed in a different manner to other complaints received by the College. This is because often these complaints are of a sensitive nature and raise potential privacy and confidentiality issues.

Roseville College requires all staff to comply with a Code of Conduct and standards of behaviour that are intended to prevent staff misconduct and reportable conduct, and staff are encouraged to report any breaches of the Code or standards.

It is also critical that the broader College community reports staff misconduct and reportable conduct (both defined below) to ensure the safety and wellbeing of students, and that the College complies with its legislative reporting obligations. Roseville College has a legal obligation to investigate and report to the NSW Office of the Children's Guardian all allegations of reportable conduct made against staff at the College as defined by the Children's Guardian Act 2019 (NSW) (Children's Guardian Act).

For the purposes of this policy, "staff" and "staff member" is defined to include teaching and non-teaching staff, College Council members, volunteers, contractors and external providers.

Definition of Staff Misconduct

The College defines "staff misconduct" as conduct by a staff member that:

- breaches the College's Code of Conduct or other key policies/procedures
- displays purposeful neglect of duties/responsibilities
- involves alcohol and/or other substance abuse
- is physically, verbally or emotionally abusive
- endangers the safety or wellbeing of students or others at the College.

Definition of Reportable Conduct

Section 20 of the Children's Guardian Act defines reportable conduct as including:

- any sexual offence or sexual misconduct, committed against, with or in the presence of a child (including child pornography offences, sexual touching or an offence involving child abuse material) including grooming behaviours

- any assault, ill-treatment or neglect of a child
- an offence under section 43B or 316A of the Crimes Act 1990 (NSW)
- any behaviour that causes psychological harm to a child (whether or not, in any case, with the consent of the child).

Some examples of conduct that would not constitute reportable conduct include touching a child to get their attention, guide them or comfort them, a teacher raising their voice to attract attention or restore order in a classroom, or conduct that is established to be accidental.

Making a Complaint or Allegation of Staff Misconduct or Reportable Conduct

If you would like to make a formal complaint or allegation of staff misconduct or reportable conduct, you can do so by:

1. Raising a concern using our online "Raise a Concern" form from the Contact page on the College website. This can be done anonymously.
2. Writing a letter to the College addressed to the Deputy Principal.
3. Telephoning the College and asking to speak to the Deputy Principal.

If the Deputy Principal is the subject of your complaint or allegation of misconduct or reportable conduct, please contact the Principal.

Investigating and Managing Staff Misconduct and Reportable Conduct

The College initially investigates all complaints and allegations to determine whether the conduct in question amounts to staff misconduct, as defined in this policy, or reportable conduct that must be further investigated and reported to the NSW Children's Guardian. All investigations uphold the principles of procedural fairness and confidentiality - information is only shared with those who need to know.

Staff Misconduct

When a complaint or allegation does not include conduct that is defined as reportable conduct following the College's initial investigation, and it is determined through the College's investigation that staff misconduct has occurred, the College will notify the complainant of the finding and corrective actions that will be taken where appropriate. Staff misconduct is managed through our Human Resources policies and procedures relating to internal grievances, discipline and termination.

Reportable Conduct

When a complaint or allegation does include conduct that is defined as reportable conduct following the College's initial investigation, the College is required by law to report the allegation to the Children's Guardian as soon as practicable.

We also conduct a risk assessment following any allegation that includes conduct defined as reportable conduct to identify and mitigate any ongoing risks to student safety and wellbeing.

The College must conduct an internal investigation, led by the Principal or delegate.

When conducting an internal investigation, the College follows the NSW Children's Guardian guidelines on planning and conducting an investigation.

A further risk assessment is conducted during the internal investigation and at the end of that investigation.

There are five potential findings that the College can make following the internal investigation:

- Sustained: finding that the alleged conduct did occur
- Not Sustained – Insufficient Evidence: finding that there is some, but insufficient, evidence available to reasonably establish that the alleged conduct did occur
- Not Sustained – Lack of Evidence of Weight: finding that the evidence available is of such poor probative value, or lacking weight, that on the balance of probabilities the conduct did not occur
- False: finding that the alleged conduct did not occur
- Not Reportable Conduct: finding that the alleged conduct was not reportable – for example, conduct that was reasonable in the circumstances or accidental. This may also include ‘misconceived’ matters where allegations were made in good faith, however it was based on a misunderstanding of what occurred, and therefore the conduct is not reportable.

The College is required to notify the NSW Children’s Guardian of the findings of the internal investigation as soon as possible once the internal investigation has been finalised.

Making a Finding of Reportable Conduct

If the College’s internal investigation results in a finding of reportable conduct, following the College’s notification to the NSW Children’s Guardian, we will conduct a final risk assessment of the conduct, the staff member and the circumstances, and take action to mitigate ongoing risks.

Disclosing Information to the College Community

A parent or carer has a legitimate interest in being told of the process that is being followed to investigate an allegation that their child was a victim of staff misconduct or reportable conduct. Information can often be provided to the parent, carer or child without the need to consider legal impediments to disclosure. However, legal impediments – real or feared – may discourage the timely and appropriate release of information, particularly in the case of reportable conduct allegations.

The College closely follows the NSW Children’s Guardian guidance on this issue provided in the Disclosing information to children, parents and carers fact sheet.

The College is permitted to disclose information to:

- the child who was allegedly the subject of the reportable conduct that forms the basis of the reportable allegation
- any parent of the child
- if the child is in out-of-home care, any authorised carer of the child.

There are times when it may be appropriate to disclose information about the internal investigation to one of these involved parties but not another, for example, to disclose information to the child’s parent, but not the child.

The College is permitted to disclose the following information to involved parties:

- information about the progress of an investigation
- the findings of the investigation
- any action taken in response to those findings,

however it considers all the circumstances of the complaint/allegation and investigation when determining if information should be disclosed.

Where to find more information

The NSW Children's Guardian has several informative fact sheets on the topic of reportable conduct and the College's obligations to report. For more information about the College's policies and procedures relating to staff misconduct, reportable conduct or complaints handling generally, please contact Deputy Principal or Director of Policy, Risk and Compliance.
